

Candle Queen

Ever since she was a child
She always knew how to get her way
Just act a little bit wild
And someone will surely come to play

It's a truth she took to heart
But humility and patience didn't come with age
She's born to play this part
A diva's always center stage

Toddler's cries that grow louder and louder
Relishing in untestable power
Glowing red in a black and white scene, the
One and only candle queen

Stoking the flames that burn higher and higher
Royalty with a crown of fire
Setting ablaze an extravagant scene, the
One and only candle queen

Addicted to adrenaline
And always looking for attention
Thought to be so genuine
When she's suddenly met with apprehension

The fighting has begun
And she'd do anything to get ahead
Like using people as ladder rungs
And sweeping eggshells under the bed

Toddler's cries that grow louder and louder
Relishing in untestable power
Glowing red in a black and white scene, the
One and only candle queen

Stoking the flames that burn higher and higher
Royalty with a crown of fire
Setting ablaze an extravagant scene, the
One and only candle queen

Ah, but there's hope for you still
Before it all comes unfurled
Ah, you just need to chill
It's not the end of the world

She just can't help but be this way
She lost her true self long ago
Now all her friends have been pushed away
Because a caricature is all they know

Toddler's cries that grow louder and louder

Everyone rushing to disavow her
All alone in a black and white scene, the
One and only candle queen

Hurt by the flames that burn higher and higher
Clutching a broken crown of fire
All alone in the final scene, the
One and only candle queen,

What a pity, that candle queen
